

Bowers Metrology Acquires Baty International

Bowers Metrology, the world's foremost bore gauge manufacturer and leader in the field of precision measuring solutions, has today announced its acquisition of privately held, Baty International, one of the world's leading designers and manufacturers of optical-based measuring instruments and gauging products.

This acquisition will enable Bowers to build on Baty's existing position in the non-contact, vision-based measurement systems market.

Steve White, Chief Executive of the Bowers Metrology Group, stated "Our strategic acquisition of Baty International will further expand Bowers' leadership position in the Metrology marketplace while strengthening our relationship with our customers. We will be able to significantly expand our vision-based measurement systems product line as well as complement our existing bore gauge and micrometer ranges. We are excited about the opportunity to leverage one of the broadest portfolios of vision-based measuring solutions, along with one of the most well-known brand names, in order to enhance our existing market position."

"This is a great strategic move for Baty; I am excited about what we can now achieve from within the Bowers organisation. Both companies are committed to providing the highest levels of product quality, customer service and technical expertise", commented Geoff Jackson, Managing Director of Baty International. "I am sure the combined teams will be a powerful force in the Metrology market place."

See Bowers Metrology at MACH 2010 - Hall 5, Stand 5510

- Ends -

